

To use this software application (“Software”), you must agree to the following:

- Your use of the Software is subject to the Software End User License Agreement (“License Agreement”). You will not use the Software in violation of the License Agreement or any applicable law, regulation or guideline. You will use the Software in good faith and will not directly or indirectly use the Software to interfere with Lutron’s business.
- Pursuant to the terms set forth in the License Agreement, the Software and any information are provided “as is” with all faults and Lutron expressly disclaims all warranties, express and implied, and does not warrant that the information will be error free. Not all products used in connection with the Software are available and/or approved for sale in all countries.
- Lutron reserves the right to charge you a fee for the Software, use of certain features within the Software, upgrades to the Software and/or services provided in connection with the Software.
- This Software is Copyright 2014 Lutron Electronics Co., Inc. All Rights Reserved.